(A) The Written word in Business

(أ) الكلمة المكتوبة في ميدان العمل التجاري

Important Note

ملاحظة هامة

In spite of the great advances made in the field of communication the letter remains one of the most effective ways of conveying information from one person to another. Bearing in mind the important role played by the letter in the world of business, students need to distinguish between good and bad practices in letter writing. The acceptable forms and styles need to be understood.

The critical importance of the letter is its impact on the receiver. We are dealing with customers or members of the public (potential customers) without whose support the business would fail and our jobs disappear. Of course this is true of all our contacts with the public but the letter is difficult to retract or to deny, and these features mean that we need to be particularly careful and precise when we compose letters.

Some Guidelinesبعض الإرشادات

The most important quality to cultivate for writing letters is empathy. Empathy requires you to “stand in the shoes of” the recipient. How would you react to this letter if it was addressed to you? It is a quality closely allied to tact and diplomacy. However there are other guidelines which you will need to bear in mind.

1. Deal with all the points raised in an incoming letter. There is always a danger in a complex letter that some of the questions raised will be unanswered.
2. Reply to letters as promptly as possible. Time is of the essence.
3. Keep the language as simple as possible particularly when you are writing to a non-expert. At the same time do not go too far in that direction so that the recipient feels he is being treated as an idiot .

4. Avoid irrelevancy and triviality.
5. Check the letter carefully before it is signed and leaves the office. The letter is an advertisement for the efficiency of your business. Advertisements are supposed to make people want to be associated with your organization but some letters have the opposite effect.
6. Avoid making promises you cannot keep, and if, for example, you agree to provide certain information by a certain date, make a diary note so you are reminded to act.
7. Avoid attacking other people or firms particularly by name. Your letter might be produced in court when you are charged with damaging a person's reputation.
8. Be careful you are not committing your organization to an unwanted course of action. An agreement between two parties may be enforceable at law. A contract does not usually need to be evidenced in writing but the production of a letter could support a claim to the court that a contractual obligation exists. Andrew, a car dealer, writes to a customer "I agree to buy your Dodge motor car for £6000". He may then be committed to the purchase in spite of the fact that he meant to quote a price of £3000. The larger sum was a typing error.

B) How to Appraise Your Letters

ب) كيف تقيم رسائلك

Before appraising a letter, be sure to determine its exact purpose.

What message is it expected to convey? What response is desired from the addressee? Then see how far your letter answers the following questions:

* IS THE LETTER

1. Complete

(a) Does it give, in the most effective order, all information necessary to accomplish its purpose?

(b) Does it answer fully all the questions, asked or implied, in the incoming letter?

2. Concise

(a) Does the letter include only the essential facts without a lot of generalities?

(b) Are the ideas expressed in the fewest possible words consistent with clarity and courtesy?

(c) Have irrelevant details and unnecessary repetition been eliminated?

3. Clear

(a) Is the language adapted to the vocabulary of the reader to whom it is addressed?

(b) Do the words exactly express the thoughts you desire to convey?

(c) Is it paragraphed in separate thought units so that it will be easy to read?

(d) Are thoughts expressed in a coherent and logical order?

4. Correct

(a) Is the accuracy of all figures, facts and data beyond question?

(b) Are all the statements made in strict conformity with your employer's policy?

(c) Is the letter free from grammatical errors, spelling errors, misleading punctuation errors?

5. Friendly

(a) Is the letter written in a cordial, friendly tone?

(b) Does it evidence a desire to cooperate fully?

(c) Will it give the reader a good impression and promote a good will for the establishment?

(d) Is it free from antagonistic words, phrases and thoughts?

(e) Does it sound sincere?

(C) Addressing an Envelope

(ج) عنوان الرسالة (أو الظرف)

* Here are a few simple rules about the best way of addressing an envelope:

1. Use separate lines for the name or company, post box or house name, number and street, town and county or city and state postcode.
2. The number precedes the street name. Words like Street, Square, avenue are written separately, each word starting with a capital letter.
3. Commas may be placed at the end of each line (closed punctuation), or only between city and state or country (open punctuation). Use the same form as in the letter.
4. The British Postcode is written below the address. The American zip code is on the same line as city and state .
5. The postcode should always be the last item of information in the address, and in block capitals .
6. Whenever possible place the postcode on a line by itself at the end of the address .

7. Do not use full stops or any other punctuation marks between or at the end of the characters of the postcode .
8. Always leave a clear space, at least equivalent to one character, between" the two halves of the postcode .
9. Never underline the postcode .
10. Never join the characters of a postcode in any way .
11. No writing should appear below the postcode. It is better to show return addresses on the back of an envelope rather than in the bottom corners of the front. "For the attention of ..." and similar messages should be shown above the address, not below it .

If you use private reference numbers on letters for your own purposes, they too should be placed immediately above the address, or be kept to the upper left hand side of the address panel.

(A) Proper Use of the Language

(أ) الاستخدام الصحيح للغة

If a business letter cannot be understood, because it is poorly written, it may not achieve its purpose. The recipient of your letter may spend so much effort trying to sort out exactly what you mean by a particular sentence; he may forget the important point that you had just made, or may lose track of the overall argument. So it is in order to avoid confusion and misunderstanding, as well as to give a good impression of yourself and your business, that you should try to write correctly and clearly.

Language is a living entity and its usage changes over the years. Furthermore, constructions which may be acceptable in daily conversation may not be grammatically acceptable in writing. The gap between what is acceptable in speech and what is correct in writing presents considerable difficulty to many people. The rules of English grammar are complicated, but for the purposes of business letter writing, it is sufficient to be familiar with the basic structure of a correct sentence and the rules of proper punctuation. If you know those, and avoid trying to write long and complex sentences, you might be able to avoid many mistakes. Keep a dictionary beside you to check any spellings which you are not sure of, and be aware of the common pitfalls.

(B) The Sentence

(ب) الجملة

A sentence is defined as a group of words which make complete sense. In order to do this, it must contain two parts: the subject, a word or words, about which the sentence will say something; and a predicate, a word or words about the subject. For example, in the sentence:

"The boy stole an apple ".

The first part, the boy, is the subject, and the second part, stole an apple, is the predicate.

* Note the following guidelines when writing a sentence:

1. Avoid splitting your subject and predicate.

* Do not write:

David, after fighting with John at the park, repented.

* Write:

After fighting with John at the park, David repented.

2. Avoid splitting an infinitive (to run, to walk, to obey, etc). .

* Do not write:

Peter wanted to carefully and meticulously stick the stamps in his album.

* Write:

Peter wanted to stick the stamps in his album carefully and meticulously.

3. Keep the same subject.

* Do not write:

We were cold at the seaside because one felt the wind.

* Write:

We were cold at the seaside because we felt the wind.

4. Keep the same tense. . .

* Do not write:

Jane answered the telephone but nobody speaks.

* Write:

Jane answered the telephone but nobody spoke.

(C) Layout of a Business Letter

(ج) نسق الرسالة التجارية

Here is a layout of a business letter. Each of the six parts discussed below is illustrated in the following model letter.

Study this model carefully and refer to it frequently as you read:

24 Hudson Road
Oyden, Utah 84401
July 5, 20—

— heading

Mrs. Elizabeth Bruce
Dunning and Watts, Inc.
210 Miller Building
Salt Lake City, Utah 84101

— Inside address

Dear Mrs. Bruce, — salutation

Mr. Ralph Gray, who has applied for a position with your firm, has requested me to send you examples of the work he has performed under my direction at the High School of Printing Trades. I am enclosing four color reproductions prepared by Mr. Gray during the past semester.

— body

The quality of Mr. Gray's work will, I believe, speak for itself. Let me add that he has been an exceptionally cooperative and enthusiastic student in both his class work and extracurricular printing activities.

Truly yours, — closing

* Model Business Letter ****

1. The Heading

Almost all business firms use stationery imprinted with a letterhead containing the firm name and address. On such stationery only the date need be added to complete the heading. The date may be centered or typed flush with the right-hand margin; it should always be at least four spaces below the bottom of the letterhead.

A business letter typed on plain paper begins with a full three-line heading arranged in block form, giving your street address on the first line; the city and state (with a comma between them) and the zip code number on the second line; and the date on the third line in one of the following formats:

American format → March 9, 2006 (with a comma between the day and year).

English format → 9 March 2006 (without any punctuation).

2. The Inside Address

The inside address, an essential part of a business letter, is typed in block form flush with the left-hand margin. It generally begins four spaces below the date. It consists of the addressee's name (this may be the name of a firm, an individual, or both) and full address. The style of abbreviation and punctuation should be identical with that of the heading.

3. The Salutation

Type the salutation flush with the left-hand margin, two spaces below the last line of the inside address.

4. The Body

Begin the body of a business letter two lines below the salutation. In the majority of letters, the body is typed single space, with a double space between paragraphs.

Business, as the word suggests, is conducted by busy people. Your business letters should be as short and clear as you can make them. Decide in advance just what you want to say; prepare notes or a first draft if necessary. Decide upon the order of the points to be covered, and never try to develop two topics at once. Devote a single paragraph to each important point.

The brevity and clarity of a good business letter do not free the writer from the basic requirements of good manners, courtesy, tact, and friendliness. Writers of good business letters get their points across by simplicity and directness of language, not by curtness or rudeness of tone.

5. The Closing

Type the closing two spaces below the last line of the body of the letter, beginning at a point just to the right of the middle of the page or to the extreme left. Capitalize the first word only, and follow the entire closing with a comma.

The phrase "Yours truly" and its variations - "Very truly yours", "Yours very truly", "Truly yours" - are acceptable closings for any business letter. When the writer and receiver of a letter have a close personal or business relationship, a more informal closing, such as "Sincerely yours" or "Cordially yours", may be used.

6. The Signature

Your name should be typed at least four spaces below the closing; your written signature is placed in the space between the closing and the typed signature. The typed signature may be followed by an official title.

A married woman may give her full married name in the form she prefers. A married woman who wants to retain her unmarried name may use either Ms or Miss.

EXAMPLES:

Very truly yours,

Donald Kennedy

Donald Kennedy

Yours truly,

Judith Hyde

(Miss) Judith Hyde

Yours truly,

Ann Howland

(Mrs.) Ann Howland

or (Mrs. Robert M. Howland)

Very truly yours,

Joanne Spencer

(D) Punctuation

(د) الترقيم

* The most commonly used punctuation marks in English are:

Full stop (= period) _____ .
Colon _____ :
Semi-colon _____ ;
Comma _____ ,
Parentheses (= round brackets) _____ ()
Dash _____ -
Question mark (Quark) _____ ?
Exclamation mark _____ !
Quotation marks _____ ‘ ‘ or “ “
Apostrophe _____ تكتب أعلى الحرف ‘

1. Full stop (or period)

Every declarative sentence must end with a full stop.

* I knocked at the door. There was no reply.

2. Colon

The colon signals that an explanation or more information follows.

(a) It is used to introduce a series.

The child wanted three things: a mug, some colored paper, and a small bicycle.

(b) It is used to introduce a quotation.

* My mother's favorite saying is from Mark Twain: 'Work consists of whatever a body is obliged to do. Play consists of whatever a body is not obliged to do.'

(c) It is used to separate two clauses of equal weight.

* Paul said it was time for supper: I said we had just finished lunch.

3. Semi-colon

This functions mainly in a long sentence to separate clauses where a pause between a comma and a full stop is needed:

* She wanted to be successful, whatever it might cost; to achieve her goal, whoever might suffer as a result.

4. Comma

The comma is the most frequently used punctuation mark.

(a) It is used to separate items in a list of three or more words.

* If you keep calm, take your time, concentrate and think ahead, you'll pass your driving test.

(b) It is used to separate phrases which depend on the same word.

* I have traveled in Canada in a canoe, in Egypt on a camel, and in England by train.

5. Parentheses (sometimes known as round brackets)

These are used in pairs when the writer has an interruption not necessarily relevant to the main idea of the sentence.

* Mount Robson (12972 feet) is the highest mountain in the Canadian Rockies.

6. Dash

Used instead of a colon or semi-colon to mark off a summary or conclusion of what has gone before.

* You've admitted that you lied to me – how can I trust you again?

7. Question mark

This is used at the end of a sentence which is a direct question.

* Are there any books on the shelves?

8. Exclamation mark (or exclamation point)

This mark is used at the end of a sentence when a strong feeling is present. A single exclamation mark is enough.

* What a wonderful mountain!

9. Quotation marks (or inverted commas)

These are used in pairs to enclose direct quotations.

* He asked, 'Where is my umbrella?'

10. Apostrophe

The apostrophe is used as a mark of omission as in:

* Won't, can't or it's.

It is also used to show possession, either singular or plural.

* This is Mary's hat. (singular)

* Where are the boy's clothes? (singular)

* Where are the boys' clothes? (plural, more than one boy).

(E) Capital Letters

(هـ) الحروف الكبيرة (أو الاستعلائية)

* Use an initial capital letter:

1. To begin a new sentence.
2. To mark a proper noun or adjective (Jordan; Jordanian).
3. To write the days of the week and the months.
4. To begin a full quotation.
5. To write the names of companies, books, films, newspapers.
6. To name specific courses, e.g. English Language "O" Level.

Do not use the capital letter for general classes or names.

* Every American wants to be president.

- Do not use for the seasons of the year.
- * spring, summer, autumn, winter.

(F) Some Rules of Good Writing

(٩) بعض قواعد الكتابة الجيدة

 We may summarize the rules of good business letter-writing as follows:

1. Think first of the reader and address yourself to his interests. Tell him all he wants to know and don't leave him to guess between the lines.
2. Adopt a tone suited to the occasion and the purpose of the letter.
3. Write naturally, as you would talk, using plain and familiar words.
4. Write clearly and right to the point. The dominant need in all business writing is exactness expressed in language that is absolutely clear.
5. Write courteously and make your letter sound friendly and sincere.
6. Avoid wordiness, but at the same time remember that it is more important to be clear and courteous even if it means using more words.
7. Avoid commercial jargon with its roundabout and meaningless forms of expression.
8. Write effectively - by using simple language, by being consistent and precise.
9. Avoid monotony - introduce variety.
10. Write according to a plan if your letter is long or especially important.
11. Pay special attention to the opening and closing paragraphs - first and last impressions leave a special mark on the reader.
12. Check your letters.

EMPLOYMENT APPLICATIONS

طلبات التوظيف

(A) Important Note

(أ) ملاحظة هامة

Applications for jobs must be written very carefully. They must provide the fullest information on the qualifications, character, conduct and experience of the candidate and must be to the point without resorting to the need for flattery or exaggeration in any case. A letter of application should be written with the utmost care and precision. The writer should subject every portion of his letter to the utmost scrutiny before allowing it to pass out of his hands, bearing in mind that the experienced eye of the businessman will detect the slightest error, and will quickly form an estimate of its author.

(B) Advertisements For Employment

(ب) إعلانات التوظيف

Advertisements (or ads) for employment appear in all the media including radio and television. However, newspapers and magazines are usually the main source for vacancies. Most "ads" use abbreviated forms to announce conditions of employment, especially in the "small ad" section for appointments, e.g. Wntd sec. full-time fr smll mnfg co. Gd slry. 5-day week, hrs 9-5 usl bnfts.

(W = Wanted, secretary for full-time employment for small manufacturing company. Good salary, five days a week, hours of work 09.00 to 17.00, and the usual benefits in terms of conditions and holidays.)

Generally, the terms vacancy, post, position, or opening are used instead of the word job in applications.

 Opening

@ If replying to an advertisement, as with most correspondence, it is better to simply state what you are doing, and remember to give a date or reference.

* I would like to apply for the position of Programmer advertised in this month's edition of Computer Technics.

* I am answering your advertisement for the post of Bank Trainee which appeared in yesterday's Times.

* I am replying to the advertisement of 18 June for a Sales Manager which you placed in The Export Journal.

@ If applying for a position which has not been advertised, you can open like this:

* I am writing to ask if you might have a vacancy in your sales department for an accounts clerk.

@ If someone associated with the company suggested you write to them, you can open thus:

* I was recommended by who is currently working in your firm.

 Application form requests

If your enquiry is only for an application form, you can give some brief details about yourself, then ask for the form. It is worth remembering, at this point, that your letters, in these cases, are not for the positions themselves, but are for interviews.

The following examples can also be used for unsolicited applications i.e. when applying for a post that has not been advertised.

* I am 23 years old, was educated at (secondary school) which I left in (date) having taken (leaving certificate). I graduated from (college/university) in (date) with a (diploma/degree) in (subject and class, mentioning any special topics that would be relevant to the position).

- * At present I am employed by (name of firm) where I am employed as (title)/and I have been there for (number of years), since (date).

@ There is no need to give any more information at this stage, so the letter can be closed:

- * Please can you send me an application form and any other relevant details?
- * Would it be possible for you to send me an application form and further details?
- * I would be grateful if you could send me an application form, and if in the meantime you need any further details about me, I would be happy to supply you with.

(D) Curriculum Vitae

(د) بيان السيرة الذاتية

Some companies do not provide you with application forms but prefer applicants to supply a curriculum vitae (CV) which is your personal and working history.

There should be a covering letter with the application forms and (CV's), either explaining points that might not be clear, or giving further information to emphasize your suitability for the post.

Remember to quote any reference numbers or job titles that have to be mentioned, and if an application form has been sent, thank the company.

* Opening

Your (CV) should be mentioned in the letter answering an advertisement.

- * Thank you for your letter of (date) and the application form for the post of (title). I have now completed the details and am enclosing the form.
- * I am enclosing my curriculum vitae for the position of...

* The enclosed (CV) is for the above post.

* Summary of details

You will see that I graduated from (college) in (date) where I got (degree,' diploma: certificate). I then began work with (name of firm) as (job title), where I was trained as (title), and was involved with (brief description of duties).

If you have had more than one job, you could explain why you left each position. This is often left for an interview. But you should never use explanations such as leaving for more money, better fringe benefits, advantages besides salary, e.g. better pension, health scheme, social facilities, car etc... Whether it is justified or not, employers do not like to feel staff leaves companies for these reasons.

You should also not state you were bored with the work you were doing, after all, you accepted the job; and never criticize the firm you worked for, the products or services they offered, or staff you worked with.

Explanations for leaving a company could include the following:

- * I left (name of firm) in (date) as (new employer) offered me a chance to use my (skills or specialized knowledge, e.g. languages, knowledge of computers, etc...)
- * In 20--/ was offered a chance to join (name of company) where there was an opportunity for me to gain more experience in...
- * I joined (name of company) in (date) as they offered an opportunity for advancement, being a much larger concern.

Explanation of previous experience

Most application forms give limited space to expand on previous duties in a company; what you did, how many people were involved, what your detailed responsibilities were. Without elaborating too much or boasting, you should stress your responsibilities and authority in the company(ies), projects you undertook, changes you affected, or schemes you introduced.

- * While I was at (name of company) I took responsibility for (title) and this meant I (description); within (period of time) the firm/department was able to (description of improvements) ...
- * During my time at (name of firm) I worked on several (description) schemes which were very successful of they meant (description)...
- * At (name of company) my duties included (description). This gave me more experience in (description) which was very valuable when I moved to (name of next company).
- * (Name of company) encouraged day release at (name of college/institute) where I studied (subject) and took a (degree/diploma/certificate) in (date). After two more years of management experience I joined (name of company).

Reasons you are applying

All companies will want to know why you are applying for a particular position. This not only means explaining why you want the job but why you think your particular skills and experience would be valuable to the firm.

- * I am particularly interested in the position you offer as I know my previous experience and academic background would be valuable in this area of (engineering; teaching; accountancy, etc.).
- * I would be successful in this post as I have now gained the experience and skills that are required.
- * This position would require someone who has had extensive experience of (area of work) which I gained both academically and commercially at (college and companies).

 Close

At the end of the letter, look forward to the interview and offer to supply more information if necessary .

- * I look forward to hearing from you. However, if there is any further information you require in the meantime, please contact me.
- * Please let me know if there are any other details you need. Meanwhile, I look forward to hearing from you.
- * I hope to hear from you in due course. Please let me know if you would like further information about me.
- * I will be able to give you more detailed information at an interview, and I look forward to seeing you.

(E) Curriculum Vitae (CV) Preparation

(هـ) تجهيز بيان السيرة الذاتية

Your (CV) introduces you. It provides important data about you before an interview.

A. Characteristics of a (CV)

A (CV) should be concise and neatly typed. It should be accurate and honest and always up-to-date.

B. Parts of a (CV)

Your (CV) should stress how your qualities and skills match the requirements of the position for which you are applying. Therefore, the areas of education and experience should be the most developed. In most cases, the (CV) consists of:

- (1) Name, address(es), telephone number(s).
- (2) Career objective: List your short-term and long-term job objectives.
- (3) Major qualifications: Highlight the strengths that match the job requirements.
- (4) Experience.
- (5) Education: Of these two - Education and Experience- list first the one you feel is most impressive about you. For some individuals it is education; for others it is experience. In each area, list the most recent first, then proceed backward. Elaborate on those points among your attributes that match the qualifications of the position for which you are applying.
- (6) Professional honors, awards, affiliations.
- (7) Personal data: (optional)
- (8) References: List the names and addresses of three or four individuals, such as former employers or teachers, who can attest to your capabilities. A personal reference may be listed.

SAMPLE LETTER 1

Application for the post of a personal assistant to the sales director.

Dear Mrs. Hastings,

I would like to apply for the position advertised in The Guardian on 16 June for a Personal Assistant to the Sales Director.

As you will see from my (CV) much of the work I do in my present position is that of a Personal Assistant. I deal not only with the routine work of a secretary, but also represent the Assistant Director at small meetings and functions, and am delegated to take a number of policy decisions in his absence.

Your advertisement asked for a knowledge of languages. I have kept up my French, and learned Italian for the past two years at evening classes, and have regularly visited Belgium and Italy with the Assistant Director, acting as an interpreter and translator for him.

I am also familiar with the latest developments in Information Technology, having just completed a one-month course at The City College, in addition to previous day release courses I attended when I was with Johnson Bros.

I am particularly interested in the situation you are offering, as I would like to become more involved with an IT organization. I am quite familiar with many of the software products that ICS manufacture for office technology.

I am able to run a busy office, and I am used to work with technicians and other specialized personnel in the field of computers. I have a genuine interest in computer development and the people involved in the profession.

Please let me know if there is any further information you require. I look forward to hearing from you.

Yours sincerely,

Carol Brice(Ms)

SAMPLE LETTER 2

Application for the post of a salesman with (CV) attached.

Dear Sirs,

In reply to your advertisement in today's "Daily Telegraph", I am interested in becoming a salesman for your company.

As you can see from the enclosed curriculum vitae, I have selling experience in pharmaceuticals and cosmetics - a very competitive field.

However, I would like to change to industrial products since I believe they offer a greater potential. Your six months' training scheme should certainly help me to devote the best of my ability to your company, particularly since my educational qualifications are higher than those you require.

My present position is subject to one month's notice, after which I would be able to train in London and, if necessary, relocate to any part of the country.

As you request in your advertisement, I shall telephone you shortly to make an appointment for a personal meeting. Meanwhile I thank you for considering my application.

Yours faithfully,
Enc. Curriculum Vitae

SAMPLE LETTER 3

Application for the post of a sales representative.

Dear Sirs,

I am writing in answer to YOUR advertisement in today's Daily Mercury for a Sales Representative.

I have had seven years experience starting as a trainee with-ILC Ltd, and progressing to my present position of Area Sales Representative with Jones Brothers. I am now keen to advance my career in a larger organization with opportunities to engage in overseas selling techniques.

I enclose my curriculum vitae, including the names of two referees. If you think I may be suitable for this position, I should be happy to come for an interview at any time convenient to you.

Yours faithfully,

SAMPLE LETTER 4

Application for the post of a skilled motor mechanic.

Dear Sir,

I wish to apply for the position of skilled motor mechanic advertised in today's "ABC" Gazette.

Having completed a full apprenticeship, I have been employed by Jones Motors for the past two years. I am now anxious to move to a firm where there are greater prospects for promotion and more interesting work.

My present manager, Mr. Brian, has agreed to give me a reference, and I would be free to come for an interview any evening after 4.30 p.m.*.

Yours sincerely,

* p.m. (or) PM = post meridiem بعد الظهر

SAMPLE LETTER 5

Application for the post of an electrical engineer.

Dear Sir,

I have a college degree in electrical engineering, and I have had some part-time work experience. I would like to be considered for a job with your prestigious firm.

For three years, I have worked closely with three University of Arizona professors who have specialized in circuit board designs of all types. In addition, I worked one full summer for Kelly Electronics in the manufacturing division, which produced circuit boards for a variety of electronic products.

My work at the University of Arizona emphasized electrical engineering. However, I also became very interested in computers and management information systems. My four years in college were supported by scholarships based on grades and related student performance.

I have always been extremely interested in engineering, especially the sophisticated area of circuitry. Because I am aware that your company is a leading defense manufacturer, with heavy involvement in circuit board design and production, I am most eager to make a contribution to such an organization.

I would be delighted to meet with you any time to discuss my educational qualifications and work experience. I am sure I would work very well in your company's environment and would help further the company's continued progress. Please call or write so that an interview may be arranged to suit your schedule.

Sincerely yours,

(A) Letters of Introduction(أ) رسائل تعريف (أو تقديم)

A letter of introduction is a courtesy extended to a friend, colleague or business associate visiting or moving to another town or city. If there is time, send the letter by post and give a copy to the person introduced. Otherwise give the letter, unsealed, to the person you are introducing, for him to hand personally to the addressee on arrival.

In asking a friend or associate to spare time to meet someone he does not know, you are, in effect, asking a favor. Your letter should therefore be couched in these terms and it should thank him for any kindness he may wish to extend to the person you are recommending.

 In addition the letter should state:

1. The name of the person introduced;
2. The reason for the visit;
3. Any relevant background material, whether of a personal or business nature, according to the kind of introduction involved.

The tone of the letter will depend not only on the degree of friendship between the correspondents, but also on the purpose of the introduction. If you are introducing a personal friend to another personal friend for purely social reasons, then, obviously, your letter will be quite informal. A purely business introduction, on the other hand, will be formal, though friendly.

A letter introducing a new sales representative is not, strictly speaking, a personal letter at all. Its purpose is quite obviously promotional. It should include a summary of the new employee's background and qualifications and stress his eagerness to be of service to the recipient of your letter.

Sometimes you will have occasion to write a letter introducing yourself. Such a letter will usually ask for an appointment or a favor of some sort and should therefore follow the same rules as other letters of introduction.

SAMPLE LETTER 1

 Introducing a company colleague for a job.

Dear Sirs,

Paul Anthony Snow

I have known the bearer of this letter, Paul Anthony Snow, for at least five years. He worked for our company as a Sales Representative in my department, and his work was satisfactory. He was a most reliable and trustworthy employee. He left the company only to follow a course of higher study in international marketing.

He would greatly appreciate it if you would assist him in his study of the documents used in international trade. I should be grateful if you would help him by providing him with the necessary documents, and answering some of his questions.

Yours faithfully,

SAMPLE LETTER 2

 Introducing a person for a job.

Dear Sirs,

Harold A. Robinson

I have known Harold A. Robinson for almost four years. He was one of my students in the faculty of Business Studies at the University of Motherwell.

He has passed all his examinations with flying colors. He is intelligent, responsible, and energetic. He took an active part in the life of the university, its social as well as its intellectual life. He proved himself to be a competent administrator in the societies he joined, and he showed initiative on many occasions. He also took part in the sporting activities of the university, and developed leadership qualities. He had many other varied interests.

I have no hesitation in recommending Harold Robinson for any position which requires intelligence, and initiative.

Yours faithfully,

(B) Letters of Recommendation

(ب) رسائل توصية

Sometimes you will have occasion to extend the courtesy of writing a letter of recommendation on behalf of a business associate, former employee, or friend.

In writing to recommend a former employee, you will need to give specific details, such as dates of employment with you, position occupied, qualifications and pertinent information on character, temperament and any other relevant details you may have observed. If you have any reservations about recommending a former employee, you should not hesitate to mention them, for it would be unfair to your correspondent – and indeed to your former employee – wholeheartedly to recommend a person for a position you knew he was unsuitable for.

In recommending a friend or business associate you will dwell more on qualities of character and personal integrity. In other words, you will be a little less specific. However do not make the mistake of being too vague and indulging in meaningless generalizations. It is always a good point to mention the number of years you have known the person concerned and, in any event, the tone of your letter should always be Warm and enthusiastic.

Write as if you mean every word you say. Sincerity is recognizable by all.

* Recommending a former employee.

Dear Mr. Hart.

I am pleased indeed to recommend Miss Renata Vericchio for the position translator in your Export Department.

During her three years with my company, from January 19-- to February 19-- she demonstrated an excellent grasp I of Italian, French and Spanish, and we soon translating all our rather technical material from and into any of these three languages and English. In addition, we found her to be an excellent shorthand-typist, It fast and cheerful worker, thoroughly well-versed in all export matters. On many occasions she acted as interpreter for us when agents and buyers from abroad visited our works.

She left for personal reasons and we were sorry indeed to lose her.

Yours sincerely,

(C) Letters lot Invitation

(ج) رسائل دعوة

Letters of invitation should be easy enough to write, for they carry no bad news, do not risk hurting or offending, and usually announce a pleasant or even festive event.

They should be cordial and friendly without being too gushing, but as with other letters, the degree of informality used must depend upon the relationship and degree of friendship between the correspondents.

Letters of invitation should never fail to specify the date, the time, and the place of the event in question. In some cases the reason for the event should also be specified. This applies in particular to invitations to customers to attend an opening, or other essentially business occasions.

Invitations to the more formal type of dinner or other evening event should go out three weeks ahead of time, if at all possible. This enables more people to accept the invitation, gives them time to prepare for the event, and precludes the need for them to cancel other engagements when they feel duty-bound to accept such as in the case of invitations to members of your staff.

Try to add a note of gaiety, warmth and welcome to your invitation letters. Enthusiasm is catching and engenders goodwill.

Vocabulary	المصطلحات
to hurt	يسئ إلى؛ يحز في النفس؛ يجرح
offend	يؤذي؛ يضر، يفضب، يضايق
festive	تعييدي؛ مهرجاني؛ احتفالي

* Informal invitations to dinner, lunch or tea.

Dear Miss Mannering,

Will you and Miss Nevins have dinner with us at our home on Wednesday, April the seventh, at seven o'clock? It has been a long time since we have had the pleasure of seeing you, and we do hope you will find it possible to be with us.

Yours sincerely,

Dear Mathilda,

Will you and Helen Nivins have dinner with us on Wednesday, the seventh of April, at seven o'clock?

Dear Jane,

Will you come to lunch on Tuesday, June the sixth, at one o'clock?

Lillian Roberts is bringing a surprise dessert from her bottomless receipt file, which should be reason enough to bring you out!

I am looking forward to hearing all about your vacation. So do say you will come.

Yours affectionately,

Dear Mrs. Adams,

I have asked a few friends to come for tea on Wednesday, April the eighth, at four o'clock. Will you join us?

My new neighbor, Martha Simmons, will be here, and I think you will enjoy meeting her. She is widely traveled, witty – and very good company.

I know that the Women's Club occupies much of your time, but I hope you are not too busy to join us. I am looking forward to seeing you.

Cordially yours,

Letters accepting an invitation to a banquet, to lunch or dinner at someone's home, or to any other event requiring prior preparation, should be sent within two days of receiving the invitation.

While conveying pleasure at being invited and anticipation of the event, their degree of formality or informality should take their cue from the invitation itself. Obviously a chatty note inviting you to lunch at a friend's club will be answered in an equally informal way; while a more formal invitation to the company's annual banquet will require a more formal reply.

It is a good plan to reiterate the time, place and date of the meeting just to make sure there will be no misunderstanding, and if some of these details have been left to you, then do not forget to specify them in your reply.

The specimen acceptance letters which follow include two examples of formal third person acceptances, since many people are a little unsure of themselves when faced with the task of replying to a formal invitation.

Accepting someone's resignation from his or her job or from a board, committee, club or association is, of course, an entirely different situation. Unless you are glad to get rid of them, the formula calls for your expressing regret at losing their services, saying a few kind words about the qualities they brought to the office concerned and conveying your good wishes for their future.

Vocabulary	المصطلحات
Banquet	مأدبة؛ وليمة؛ عزيمة
Lunch	غذاء؛ وجبة الظهر
Dinner	عشاء
Cue	إيعاز؛ إشارة للبدء؛ وعزة
Chatty	كثير الكلام والدرشة
To reiterate	يعيد (القول)؛ يكرر (القول)
Misunderstanding	سوء فهم
To get rid of	يتخلص من
Formula	صيغة

(A) Of invitation to banquet, lecture or other event:

Dear Greenley,

I am delighted to accept your kind invitation to the B.I.M's annual banquet at the Hyde Park Hotel on March 21.

I shall be there at 8 as you suggest and look forward to a very interesting evening.

Thank you very much for thinking of me.

Yours sincerely,

(B) Of lunch or dinner invitation:

Dear Mr Stanley,

Many thanks for your letter of March 4.

I'd be happy to have lunch with you during my brief visit to town next week. Both the day and the hour suit me admirably and I will be in the foyer of the Piccadilly Hotel at 12:30 as you suggest.

I look forward to seeing you.

Sincerely yours,

(E) Refusal Letters

(هـ) رسائل الاعتذار عن تلبية دعوة

If they are not to offend, letters of refusal must be both tactful and friendly. They should leave the recipient with the impression that the invitation was not only welcome, but flattering and that it is turned down with genuine regret.

One way of achieving this effect in the case of invitations to lunch, dinner or some sort of function or entertainment, is to indicate your availability on another occasion. In other cases, it helps if you give a valid reason for turning down the invitation. But, above all, let the kind word turn away wrath, or rather, let it cement good relations even while saying "no"

Once again, the formal third person reply has been included to dispel all doubt on how this kind of situation should be handled.

Vocabulary	المصطلحات
To offend	يؤذي؛ يضر
Tactful	لبق؛ حسن التصرف؛ كيس
Recipient	المتسلم (أو المستلم)
Impression	انطباع
Genuine	صحيح؛ حقيقي؛ أصلي
Function	حفل؛ احتفال عام
Entertainment	تسلية؛ ترفيه؛ ترفيهه؛ عزومة

* Informal refusal / of invitation to banquet, club or other event.

Dear Ms Forsythe,

I very much regret that I shall be unable to attend the banquet honoring Mr. Cameron.

Our annual sales conference at Scarborough is taking place this year from January 6 to 9 inclusive, which means that I shall, unfortunately, be far away on the evening of the banquet.

I cannot tell you how sorry I am, for nothing would have given more pleasure than to be with you. Do please excuse me and accept my best wishes for a very enjoyable occasion. I cannot think of anyone who more richly deserves the tribute being paid to him on January 8.

Yours sincerely,

SAMPLE LETTER

* Informal refusal / of lunch or dinner / invitation.

Dear Fred,

I have just received your friendly letter asking me to have lunch with you during my fleeting visit to town next week.

There is nothing I would have enjoyed more than a nice long chat with you -- not to mention lunch. Unfortunately, however, I'm afraid well have to postpone it. My visit this time will be a dash and nothing more. I shall be attending meetings all day long and lunch will, no doubt, consist of a sandwich in the conference room - if that.

I hope you will understand. I look forward to seeing you either on my next visit or when you come up to the Midlands.

Sincerely,

(F) Letters of Welcome

(٩) رسائل ترحيب

A letter of welcome is a gracious gesture which costs very little effort to write and is much appreciated by the recipient. It is one of those thoughtful gestures which builds goodwill and starts off a new relationship on a happy, friendly footing.

There are many occasions which might prompt you to write a letter of welcome. They include letters to prospective customers who have newly arrived in your district or town, to new customers, either retail or wholesale, to owners or executives of new businesses moving into your district, and to new members of your staff.

Obviously, the content of your letter will depend on the individual circumstances, but brevity, friendliness and sincerity should be the hallmark of all of them.

In writing to new retail customers you will want to stress your pleasure in serving them and your desire to offer them excellent merchandise and service. Your new agents or wholesale customers will be pleased to know that you plan to co-operate with them in every way and look forward to a pleasant and mutually profitable relationship. Your welcome letter to a new member of your staff would do well to stress the qualities and background which got him or her the job, assure him or her of the opportunities for advancement which the new position offers, and reiterate your conviction that your relationship will be mutually pleasant.

Vocabulary	المصطلحات
Gracious	لطيف؛ ظريف؛ مفضل
Gesture	إشارة؛ رمز؛ حركة تعبيرية؛ إيماءة
Footing	علاقة طيبة؛ رسوخ؛ منزلة وطيدة
Prompt	فوري؛ فوراً؛ حالاً؛ رأساً
Prospective	منتظر؛ محتمل؛ باعتبار ما سيكون
Brevity	إيجاز في الكلام
Hallmark	علامة فارزة (أو فارقة)
Mutually	بشكل مشترك
Advancement	تقدم؛ ترق
To reiterate	يكرر؛ يعيد
Conviction	قناعة؛ يقين

 Letter of welcome / to prospective customers.

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Wayne,

We have just heard that you have recently taken up residence in Leicester and we hasten to send you this note of welcome. We are sure you will like it here. It is a happy, friendly town.

Please accept our cordial invitation to visit and become acquainted with our store. We have a very extensive and well-stocked men's department, as well as our ladies' fashion departments and, of course, a home furnishing department and many others.

You will find us friendly people, eager and happy to serve you. Won't you come in soon?

Yours sincerely,

SAMPLE LETTER

 Letter of welcome I to retail customers.

Dear Ms Bradley,

This is just a note to say 'Thank you' for shopping at our store yesterday.

We are delighted to welcome you as a customer and will do everything we can to deserve the confidence you have expressed in us and our merchandise. Do return soon.

Yours sincerely,

 Letter of welcome / to agents and wholesale customers.

Dear Ms Shepherd,

It is a pleasure to welcome you as a Cosmos agent and to assure you of our utmost co-operation in making the sale of our products a source of profit to you.

We hope that this is the beginning of a pleasant, profitable and lasting business relationship between us.

Yours sincerely,

SAMPLE LETTER

 Letter of welcome / to a wholesale customer.

Dear Mrs. Greenley,

I have just heard that you recently placed your first order with us and hasten to welcome you personally to our circle of customer friends.

I am convinced that you will find our products a very suitable addition to your line and that they will prove a valuable source of new business for you.

Thank you for the confidence you have placed in us and please be assured that we shall do everything we can to merit it.

Yours sincerely,

(G) Letters of Seasonal Greetings

(ز) رسائل التهاني بالأعياد

Letters of seasonal greetings can do a lot to cultivate and maintain a happy business relationship and to keep a contact alive. It is a pity that so few such letters are actually written, for they are simple enough to write and need only be quite short. In fact once you have expressed your appreciation for your reader's co-operation, friendship or business, over the past year and wished him or her the best for the holiday season, there is nothing more you should or can say without being repetitious and cumbersome.

As with most other letters, a letter of seasonal greetings will vary in its degree of informality according to that relationship between the correspondents, but friendliness, sincerity and, with few exceptions, brevity, should be common to all of them.

Vocabulary	المصطلحات
To cultivate	يستغل؛ ينمي
Pity	أسف؛ أمر مؤسف؛ تأسف
Appreciation	اعتراف بالجميل؛ تقدير
Repetitious	فيه إعادة (أو تكرار)؛ معاد؛ مكرر
Exceptions	استثناءات

SAMPLE LETTER

 Letter of seasonal greetings / to retail customers,

Dear Mrs. Waring,

We would be ungrateful if we failed to turn our thoughts back to the year that has gone by and to the valued support you have given us during that time. We sincerely appreciate your loyalty as a customer and we feel this is the time of year to express our thanks and send you our very best wishes for the coming; year. May it be a happy and prosperous one for you and your family.

Sincerely yours,

SAMPLE LETTER

 Letter of seasonal greetings / to agents and wholesale customers.

Dear Mr. Fenn,

As the festive season approaches we would like to tell you how much we have appreciated your business during the past year and extend to you our very best wishes for the New Year.

It has been a pleasure working with you and we look forward to an even better year in 19--.

Yours sincerely,

(H) Congratulations and good wishes

(ح) التهاني والمباركات والتمنيات الطيبة

We all like to be congratulated on our achievements and are pleased when the milestones in our career are suitably noticed by friends and associates. Yet how often do you pause during the day's business to write a short note to a friend or business connection who has achieved recognition of some sort? It is easy enough to do, it takes but a few minutes, and brings a glow of pleasure to the recipient.

Occasions for writing such messages are innumerable. Why not make a point of seizing such opportunities from now on? Make your message short, crisp, friendly and, above all, sincere. As with all other letters, you will naturally match your degree of informality and the tone of your message to the age of the recipient and the relations between you but, generally speaking, you will do well to write in a natural, informal, chatty style, tingeing your message with the enthusiasm of true sincerity.

The specimen letters that follow cover some occasions frequently encountered in the course of business life.

Vocabulary	المصطلحات
Achievement	إنجاز؛ أداء
Milestone	مرحلة هامة؛ معلم
Career	مهنة دائمة؛ مهنة الحياة
Associates	زملاء
Recognition	تقدير (الخدمة أو فضل الخ)
Recipient	متسلم (أو مستلم)؛ متلق
Innumerable	لا يعد أو يحصى
Crisp	بين؛ واضح
Informality	عدم الكلفة؛ عدم الرسمية
Chatty style	أسلوب عذب
Tingeing	يلون
Enthusiasm	حماسة؛ حماس

 Congratulation to a business and Professional associate / on receiving a new professional appointment.

Dear Mr. Harrison,

I was delighted to learn that you are moving to Birmingham to take charge of the new Branch in the Bull Ring.

Please accept my most sincere congratulations and my very best wishes for success in your new position.

Sincerely yours,

SAMPLE LETTER

 Congratulation to a business and professional associate I on receiving a new business appointment.

Dear Steve,

I have just read in "Campaign" that you have been appointed Advertising Manager to Marlex Foods.

It is a fine opportunity for you and you have worked hard for it. I know you will make good and I hasten to send you my hearty congratulations together with my very best wishes for your success.

Sincerely,

(I) "Thank you" Letter

(ط) رسائل شكر

The letter of appreciation can take many forms. It is as varied, in fact, as there are reasons for our gratitude. If it is to be effective it should be written at once, for nothing creates a worse impression than a "Thank You" letter which begins with an apology.

If you have time to write the note by hand, so much the better, but in any event, make it brief. No good purpose is served in going on and on. Simply say your piece and close.

The informal approach is the best one for a note of thanks, but several factors must be taken into consideration in deciding just how informal to be. You should bear in mind how personal the favor was, the degree of friendship between you and your correspondent and, finally, the age and character of your addressee.

Above all, a note of thanks should be sincere. If you are just going through the motions because you think it is the right thing to do, it will be quite obvious to your correspondent.

In these days of constant haste, it is the minority that finds time to drop a note of thanks for a favor received or a pleasant evening. Yet no letter gives more pleasure to the recipient and does more to cement a friendship, whether inside or out of the business circle, more than a "Thank you" letter.

Vocabulary	المصطلحات
Appreciation	تقدير؛ اعتراف بالجميل
Gratitude	شكران؛ عرفان بالجميل؛ امتنان
Effective	مجد؛ ناجع؛ له وقع حسن في النفس
Apology	اعتذار؛ دفاع كلامي أو كتابي
Approach	اقترب؛ مقاربة؛ تقرب
Factor	عامل؛ عنصر
Addressee	المرسل (أو المعلنون) إليه
Obvious	واضح؛ جلي
Constant	متواصل؛ مستمر
Haste	عجلة؛ استعجاله
Minority	أقلية

Check-lists

قوائم الضبط

Here are a few check-lists to help you write better business letters. Study them carefully for some time and, whenever you write a business letter, refer to the: relevant check-list or the final overall one. After a little practice you will automatically write effective letters without having to refer to any check-list.

(A) Check-List for Letterheads

 When drafting a letterhead check the following:

1. Will the color and size of the printing be readable?
2. Does it give the name of the firm?
3. If your firm has a logo or house sign, is it included?
4. Does it tell what your firm does?
(Unless the name of your firm is descriptive of your business or is an old, well-established firm, you should add a line describing the type of business).
5. Does it give your complete postal address, your telephone number, telegraphic address, and telex number, if any?
6. If your office is a branch have you included the address, etc., of the Head Office?
7. Is its appearance in keeping with the character of the firm?

(B) Check-List for Inquiries

 When drafting a letter inquiring about goods or services, etc., check the following:

1. If your inquiry is in response to an advertisement or sales letter, have you referred to it specifically?
2. Have you been very specific and stating clearly the exact information you require?

3. If your inquiry is a lengthy one have you drafted it like a questionnaire which can be answered by a "Yes" or "No" or by mere checking?
4. If you are particularly anxious to get a reply have you enclosed a reply- paid or self-addressed, stamped envelope?
5. Do you have a follow-up system so that if there is no response to your letter you may write another one after a reasonable time?

(C) Check-List for Replies to Inquiries

 When replying to an inquiry check the following:

1. Have you underlined or marked in the margin of the inquiry exactly what information is required?
2. Have you given the information asked for clearly and specifically as well as any further information that the inquirer might need?
3. Have you taken the opportunity to write a sales letter?
4. Are you replying on the same day?
5. Have you personalized your reply?
6. Have you enclosed an order form, price list, catalogue, etc., where necessary?

(D) Check-List for Sales Letters

1. Has the AIDA formula been used?
2. Is the letter reader-oriented?
3. Has the letter eye appeal?
4. Is the layout correct?
5. Are the grammar, spelling and punctuation correct?
6. Does the letter end with an action-getting sentence and not with a participial such as "Thinking you", "Anticipating", etc.?

AIDA FORMULA: A = Attract ATTENTION in first paragraph
 I = Create INTEREST
 D = arouse DESIRE
 A = ACTION-GETTING paragraph at end i.e. ask for what you want specifically and then stop.

(E) Check-List for Orders

 Before sending an order check the following:

1. If this is your first order to a particular firm and you wish to do business on credit, have you given references regarding your financial ability?
2. If your order is based on a quotation or on a price list or catalogue, or on a salesman's visit, have you referred specifically and in detail to it?
3. Have you given exact specifications of quantity, quality, size, color, weight, rate, etc., as the case may be?
4. Have you included instructions as to the method of dispatch of the goods?
5. If you require the goods urgently, have you indicated the deadline?
6. If you are enclosing a remittance have you mentioned its form, e.g. a bank draft, a cheque, a postal order, etc., and above all, checked whether the enclosure indicated is actually sent with the order?

(F) Check-List for Complaints (Claim Letters)

 Every time you write a complaint check the following:

1. Have you identified the transaction by giving the date, invoice number and any other necessary data?
2. Have you been factual and not emotional?
3. Have you given an exact explanation of the inconvenience caused to you? .

4. Have you motivated action by stating exactly that you require e.g. a re- placement, a credit note, etc.

(G) Check-List for Replies Complaints

 Every time you reply to a complaint check the following:

1. Have you replied immediately, the very same way on receiving the complaint or if you need time to investigate have you at least acknowledged the complaint immediately?
2. Have you been courteous, factual and fair?
3. Are you sure there is no trace of sarcasm in your reply?
4. If you find the claim justified, have you taken the required action?
5. Even if you have some doubt as to the genuineness of the claim, have you acceded to the request?
6. If you are granting the claim, have you done so cheerfully and without any hint of reluctance?

(H) Check-List for Reminders

 For writing effective collection letters check the following:

1. Has a series of reminders been drafted and kept in a forms file and indeed ?
2. Has a system been devised and communicated to the Collection Department or, in its absence, to a member of the Staff about mailing reminders once by one from the drafted series?
3. For example, has it been decided as to how and who will feed the department or individual for sending the first reminder to a debtor, and fixed the intervals between sending each reminder in the series, except the last one which threatens legal proceedings?
4. Have instructions been given not to send the last reminder without referring first to a higher authority?
5. Has a draft form been prepared, filed and indexed for apologizing when a reminder has been sent by mistake?
